

While legal aid is no longer available for most personal injury cases there is little cause to worry over costs as we are able to undertake the vast majority of work on a conditional (no win no fee) basis, or via the client's own legal expenses insurance often included in either motoring or household effects insurance.

Berry & Berry handles a wide variety of personal injury cases both for individual clients and for multi party actions.

We have substantial personal injury experience with all types of accidents and have also dealt with many fatal accident claims, and have substantial experience of appearing before HM Coroner's Courts.
